East African Shea Butter

$7.00 per pound

5 pound minimum purchase

We are very pleased to be able to offer this exceptional, yet rare, product! East African shea butter is a cold pressed, raw shea butter with a very faint smell and an incredible moisturizing ability, even more so than its western counterpart.

East African shea butter, also known as the Nilotica variety, is higher in oleic acid content, making it a better moisturizer than the West African shea butter. It is very soft and is normally pure white, to cream yellow, to off-white in color. It penetrates the skin very quickly and easily, leaving soft, velvety smooth skin in seconds.

If you are looking for a superior moisturizer, with little to no odor, and is all natural, the East African variety of shea butter is possibly the best in the world! We are also happy to be able to offer this variety of shea butter at such a competitive price. It is very hard to find anywhere outside of Uganda, and importing it from Uganda is also a challenge.

Some companies have been selling this variety for $17.00 per 1.6 oz, but we are happy to be able to offer this incredible product to you for much less!
